OF THREE TOTS
TAKEN TO CELL*Widow Moans Desire To Die As Barred Door
Clangs On Her

Charleston, Ill., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Inez Carrell, young Chicago widow who slew her three children entered Cook county jail today to await grand jury action in the indefinite future on murder charges facing her.

Leaving the Mattoon hospital where she had spent the past week since attempting suicide, Mrs. Carrell was brought here in the private automobile of Coroner F. S. Schilling whose inquest yesterday recommended she be held for murder.

"I want to die, I want to die," was the woman's cry as the jail door clanged shut behind her. She was sobbing hysterically.

A cell 16 feet square was her prison. It held regulation accommodations for all women prisoners, including running water.

"Everyone Against Me" she moaned during the trip. She protested weakly and in vain against attempts to photograph her in her hospital room with Dr. Orlando F. Scott, Chicago alienist brought here in her behalf by relatives and friends.

She had a shawl over her head as she left the hospital. Her thin figure, racked by an overdose of a sedative self-administered since the night of October 21, when she drowned her children, appeared weak and frail.

The trip to the jail was delayed an hour and a half while Dr. Scott examined her mentally and physically. He said he would return to Chicago this afternoon and make a report tonight on his findings as to her condition. A report would be made by telephone to Mrs. Carrell's attorney, Ben Anderson, in Charleston.

Dr. Scott said he would consult with Chicago physicians who treated Mrs. Carrell during the past two years.

"Is Terrible Case" he said, "more so if she is sane than if she is insane."

Her sister Verna Steed of Chicago, accompanied her to jail and volunteered to spend the day with her. Sheriff Vinton Aye said he would supply a woman guard and companion for Mrs. Carrell tonight. The Sheriff held the Coroner's mittimus for her arrest on murder charges. She was prepared to look her immediately.

Mrs. Carrell's Mattoon hospital guard told her "no. Cook county jury would give you a death sentence."

"Not even if I asked for it?" she replied.

STAGED BATTLE
AT COURT HOUSE*Five Wounded Before
Officers Break Up
Gun Engagement

Pineville, Ky., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Five persons were wounded and several hundred endangered as two mountain families tried to settle their differences with rifles and pistols in front of the court house here today.

Fifteen to twenty shots were fired before deputy sheriffs and Chief of Police Pearl Osborne succeeded in breaking it up by arresting two of the men.

Passersby fled into stores, hid behind automobiles and one or two lay flat on the pavement. Three of the wounded were bystanders.

Stephen Lee, 58, and his son George, 17, were said by officers to have been on one side with Elijah McGeorge, 40, and Martin McGeorge, 21, brothers, on the other. The men fired at each other across a 30-foot street. Elijah McGeorge was out on bond charged with having killed Jim Lee, son of Stephen Lee, four months ago in a quarrel over McGeorge's wife.

The wounded were Stephen Lee, bullet wound in left arm; George Lee, shot in lower right breast and believed to be in precarious condition and three bystanders, Cogar M. Brooks, 33, wound in left thigh; Ed Brown, 43, wound in left thigh that a physician said may cause him to lose his leg, and Charles Simpson, minor wound from bullet that grazed his upper lip.

The Lee and McGeorge families, who live in the mountains about ten miles from Pineville, came to town today along with numbers of others for Circuit Court and the usual Saturday trading.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Miss Jane Rodenhauer, 21, daughter of a Peoria, Ill., dentist, was killed and three other University of Illinois students injured, one seriously, last night when an auto in which they were riding plunged off the highway and turned over.

The party was enroute from Champaign to Chicago to attend the Illinois-Chicago football game today.

Leo C. MacKelben, 20, a junior at the University, whose home was at Madison, Ill., suffered a fractured skull. He and Miss Rodenhauer were riding in the rumble seat of the car at the time of the accident.

The other two in the party, both residents of Chicago, were not seriously hurt. They were Miss Leonore Wetzel, 18, a sophomore, and Vincent Del Vaccaro, 19, a junior.

Del Vaccaro, who was driving, told police the car was forced off the highway at 191st street and Cicero avenue, on the south side of Cook county, by another auto and that it turned over when the wheels slipped on the shoulders of the road.

Miss Rodenhauer, a student in the Graduate School at the University, was dead when taken from the wreckage. The car belonged to her. She was a graduate of Bradley College at Peoria.

SMALL, HORNER
BOTH ENDORSE
RELIEF BONDS*Increase In Taxes Is Sure
If Voters Fail To Approve Issue

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Earl C. Smith, chairman of the state bond issue campaign committee, today announced that both Len Small, Republican gubernatorial nominee, and Judge Henry Horner, his Democratic opponent, had endorsed the emergency relief bond issue of $20,000,000 to be voted on at the general election.

Len Small—"At the close of my eight years of service as Governor of Illinois, the balance in the State Treasury was $40,000,000, the state tax rate was reduced to thirty cents and no tax anticipation warrants had ever been issued by the state. I realize that conditions have changed since then, due to causes over which the people of Illinois had no control.

"Money had to be raised for unemployment relief. Due to the financial situation of Chicago, Cook county, and the Sanitary District, brought about by mismanagement, waste, and extravagance, and as the county and sanitary district bonds were in default, the only way to obtain that money was by borrowing from the state of Illinois and the federal government. The Illinois legislature, responding to the appeal of the citizens of Chicago and a few other municipalities, has loaned the money. Unless the bond issue passes, the entire amount would be added to our taxes next year, and the tax rate of Illinois would be greatly increased. Under these conditions I shall vote for the bond issue and advise my friends to do the same."

Judge Horner — "It is my wish that our party make every effort to have the voters of Illinois approve the emergency relief bond issue proposal, which will appear on a separate ballot on November 8th.

"The bond issue provides for equitable redemption of state tax warrants issued to relieve unemployment distress in the state, and in Cook county especially. Unless the bond issue is approved, the whole state will be taxed to redeem these warrants. If the bond issue is passed the warrants will be redeemed from existing gasoline tax funds, each county paying from its share of the gasoline tax in proportion to the amount it received from the unemployment relief fund. Thus, communities which received no help will not have to bear any of the cost. This I think is only simple justice.

"I feel that the citizens of Cook county will and should support the bond issue as a point of honor and fairness to the rest of the state.

"In my address before the democratic state convention last April I urged approval of the bond issue, and in connection with my campaign I have taken every opportunity to call it to the attention of the voters.

"We are looking forward to an era of good feeling and cooperation between Cook county and the rest of the state. It will be an important step in that direction if the bond issue is approved with the unmistakable help of Cook county voters."

Wheat Reaches New
All-Time Low Mark

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Wheat reached a new record price for all time in organized markets when December option sold on the Board of Trade for 43½ cents a bushel. A couple of days ago a record low of 44½ was reached, followed by a slight rally. Statisticians have gone back to the time of Queen Elizabeth to find such low prices.

Foreign influences, together with a lack of buying orders here, were the reasons given by traders for the most recent decline.

There were reports of selling of Australian wheat at Liverpool and price trends at Winnipeg were downward.

Wheat closed from 1¼ to 1½ lower, corn from ¼ off, and oats unchanged to ¼ down.

Main Speaker At A Meeting Last Eve

Declaring that Herbert Hoover would secure 320 electoral votes at the November 8 election, assuring his return to the presidency, Lieutenant Governor Fred E. Sterling of Rockford, native of Dixon, last evening urged support of the entire Republican ticket at the meeting of the League of Women Voters which was held in the city hall. Lieut. Gov. Sterling was the principal speaker of the evening and traveled 300 by auto to keep this engagement.

"Lincoln was a martyr in the days of war, but Hoover has been a martyr in the days of peace," the speaker said in confining himself to the head of the Republican ticket. "I predict that Herbert Hoover will not only carry Illinois, but that he will carry Cook county and furthermore that he will be high man on the Republican ticket in Illinois. After November 8 it is either going to be Hoover or it is going to be Hell."

Democrats Pick Judges

Referring to the state ticket, the speaker called attention to the fact that the Democratic party specializes in the selection of judges as candidates for governorships. He briefly reviewed the administrations of Altgeld and Dunne, both judges, and called attention to the depleted treasuries which were left when their terms of office expired. Judge Henry Horner, another judge and Democratic candidate for the office of governor of Illinois, does not handle vast sums of money as speakers stumping the state in his behalf would have the voters believe, the speaker said. In fact, Mr. Sterling compared Horner's position in Cook county, that of Probate Judge, to the office held by Judge Leach in Lee county, judge of the county court, where no money or funds are handled by the court. He called attention to the financial condition of Cook county as shown by reports on file in the office of the Lieutenant Governor in Springfield and the continued appeal for aid coming from Cook county. Lieutenant Governor Sterling spoke in behalf of the candidate of John E. Northrup for Attorney General, C. Wayland Brooks for the state treasurer, William J. Stratton, seeking re-election to

When it's a siphon.

Dr. H. H. Cole and Dr. Walter Bain of Springfield discovered that "scientific" fact on their way to Pana yesterday. Near Taylorville two women hailed them from a stalled automobile.

"Our motor died," they said. The physicians accepted the case, consulted with each other, diagnosed the trouble as an empty gasoline tank, and tried to take some fuel from their car through the drain. Unable to do so, they used Dr. Bain's stethoscope as a siphon, gave the women enough to get to Springfield, and all went on their way.

TO ARREST MISCREANTS

An order calling for the arrest and prosecution of all Halloween offenders apprehended in the destruction of property was issued this morning by Commissioner H. A. Brooks of the Department of Public Health and Safety and Chief of Police J. D. VanBibber. Last evening about 8 o'clock the police were called to the north side where it was reported that a crowd of about 40 girls were making a canvas of residences, taking empty milk bottles from porches and breaking them in the streets. Cleveland PoliceSeek Missing Boy

Cleveland, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Three squads of detectives today began searching for a woman seen dragging a boy into an automobile a week ago today, the day eight-year-old Ebert Hollertson disappeared.

Search was ordered after a teamster reported to police he saw the woman force the boy into her car and then speed away.

Meanwhile a hunt was continued for an unidentified "man in a gray sedan" who threatened the boy several months ago.

Still another search was in progress for two men who attempted to entice Geraldine Giansky, who lives in the same neighborhood as the Hollertsons, into their machine last night by offering her candy.

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A solar plexus blow to a farflung rum-runners' ring was the way Federal agents described a raid on a hidden radio station as they arraigned seven prisoners today on a charge of breaking the radio laws.

Two months of investigation culminated last night in a surprise raid on a Island house. In the walls of the place, the agents said, they found the most powerful unlicensed broadcasting outfit uncovered in years.

In the house and in another building near Manhattan Beach the agents seized the seven men, among them George McDonald, described as an unlicensed radio operator.

For more than a year, the agents charged, the station had been directing rum row's operations.

On Board President Hoover's Special Train, enroute to Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Renewing his attack on Democratic tariff policies in addresses in West Virginia this morning as he traveled back to Washington from last night's speech in Indianapolis, Mr. Hoover asked West Virginia voters if they could feel safe under an administration pledged to lower import duties.

At Grafton before a crowd estimated by police at 4,000 persons, the Chief Executive touched on railroad problems, asserting that a year ago the country was "faced with the receivership" of three-fourths of its railroads.

He recalled administration efforts to maintain rail wages until living costs had decreased. The rail workers have now done their part, the President said, and are receiving the support of the administration and the roads themselves. He cited "the present pick-up in business" as an indication railroad and other working conditions are on the upgrade.

Take Up Attack

At Clarksburg, shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, the Chief Executive took up almost where he had left off last night in his address in Indianapolis, again assailing the Democratic tariff.

President Hoover referred to his investigation of tariff rates and said it showed the need for higher barriers. He said cost of production of materials in the United States is much higher than in European countries and someone in the crowd at Clarksburg shouted "That's the stuff."

The President's campaign trail led him eastward from a fourth invasion of the mid-west in which he struck out more directly than ever before at Governor Roosevelt characterizing the Democratic nominee's "new shuffle" on election issues as "all equally untenable."

Relentless Drive

The President was swinging back through Ohio and West Virginia from Indianapolis where he told a capacity audience in the 22,000-seat Butler field house last night that if he had time he could "drive" his opponent "from every solitary position he has taken in this campaign."

This statement, following an assertion that he had forced Governor Roosevelt to "shift" his position on the tariff, drew cries of "A-hoy" from the cheering throng.

A dozen rear platform appearances were made by the President and Mrs. Hoover on the way west yesterday. They were climaxed by

TO CONTINUE FACT

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Dow Jones & Co. said today it is learning on good authority that the Railway Managers' committee and the heads of the rail brotherhoods will probably agree on a temporary extension of the present 10 per cent cut in pay when they meet on December 10.

The agreement, it was said, will likely be continued from February 1, the expiration date, until the date when negotiations over the railroads' request for a 20 per cent wage cut from the basic scale are settled.

Wall Street

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The stock market was unable to maintain its upward slant today, in the face of a moderate decrease in the movement of revenue freight, as reported for last week. The list stiffened in the early trading, showing signs of continuation of yesterday's slow advance, but the appearance of the freight car loadings statement, showing that the week ended Oct. 22 registered a decline of 8,405 cars from the previous week, prompted freight traders to switch to the bear side. The market was unable to break out of the narrow trading range of the last week, but closed with several losses of 1 to 2 points, which about cancelled yesterday's gain. The final tone was heavy, but the market remained almost entirely professional, as the speculating and investing public continued to leave the market severely alone. Court Martial To Include Officers

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. Robert W. Davis and Captain Carl Meacham, his executive officer in commanding Illinois National Guard troops in the Christian county coal fields, will be court martialled along with Corp. Russell Myers of Peoria, who killed a striking miner in Tovey, it was announced today.
Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black, their superior officer, said he had approved their request to establish military law before the court of 13 officers here Monday.
Myers, who shot Andrew Ganis upon his alleged refusal to submit to arrest, Oct. 13, was cleared by a military board of inquiry in Taylorville several days ago. Gen. Black said he then asked for a Court Martial. Col. Davis approved his request and it was granted.
The court martial headed by Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity, was called "for trial of such persons as might properly be brought before it." The General's announcement of his approval of the requests of Col. Davis and Capt. Meacham for similar trial was the first definite word that those officers would be tried also, but the size and power of the court had qualified it for action on other cases.

Veracruz Demands Legal Birth Control

Veracruz, Mexico, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Salvador Mendoza, one of the drafters of the new civil code, announced today that state authorities had decided to draw up a law to establish a system of birth control in Veracruz.
Dr. Mendoza, an attorney, said the various provisions of the law and penalties for violation had not been settled upon as yet, but that a state birth control office would be provided to carry out the plan.
As now sketched, the attorney said, the law would require parents wishing to have children to appear before the board of inquiry, which would be made up of the size of family, ability to provide and educate, and condition of the health of parents.
The measure would prohibit children to extremely poor, incompetent, or defective parents.

Sanders Is Sued By N. Y. Film Producer

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff James Tounney today attached $21,000 of the funds of the Republican National Campaign Committee under a warrant of attachment signed by Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook.
The attachment was served as the result of a suit brought by Lowell H. Brown, film producer, against Everett Sanders as chairman of the Republican National Committee. Brown asserted he was the producer and owner of a negative motion picture "The Master of Emergencies," depicting the career of President Hoover, which he claims he made in agreement with the Republican National Committee.
He charged that he sold two copies of the picture to the Republican National Committee for campaign purposes, and that the committee "wrongfully and in violation of the agreement caused to be made a duplicate negative," from which he charged, copies of the film were made and are now being sold.
He claimed that under the agreement he was to have been sole distributor of the pictures. He is suing for $21,000.

FRENCH PRIME MINISTER WINS CHAMBER'S VOTE

New Disarmament Plan For Conscription Gets Support

Paris, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Herriot today won the Chamber of Deputies over to a new French disarmament plan providing for conscriptional armies in Europe and American acquiescence in such guarantees for security as the United States "had envisaged itself."

The American participation in guarantees under which France would be willing to launch into the conscriptional army plan. The point was not outlined by the Premier in his address to the Chamber.
Just before debate closed, however, the Premier said he had taken note of the interpretation placed on the Kellogg-Briand pact by the American Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson.
This interpretation, he declared, meant that neutrality no longer is possible. "The fact that there was no longer any isolated wars is in itself a guarantee," the Premier said.

The Chamber voted confidence in the government on the new disarmament plan by the overwhelming count of 430 to 20 after the Premier had outlined the idea.
This disarmament scheme involving the United States was approved only a few hours before a conference had been arranged between Norman Davis, United States representative in the disarmament conference, and M. Herriot.

Springfield Hopes To Hear President

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Republican National Campaign headquarters announced today no decision had been reached regarding whether President Hoover would make an address at Springfield.
It was said any announcement regarding the President's personal campaign probably would be made early next week at the White House.
Reports still persisted among Chicago political groups, however, that Springfield was one of the cities most likely to be chosen for a presidential address.
The President probably would address a noon rally there and a night meeting at St. Louis next Wednesday or Thursday en route to Palo Alto, Calif., if he decided to return to California to vote, it was said.
Numerous other mid-west cities are bidding for an appearance by the President, including Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

"President Is Only Way Out" Says Mills

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, last night told an overflow meeting of Republicans that America's only way out of the depression was in the re-election of President Hoover.
Mills said that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential candidate, would get the regular Democratic votes and those cast by persons who say "things could not be worse."
"But," he warned, "do not deceive yourselves. Do not let anyone tell you that things couldn't be worse. They could have been much worse. We have lost much, but we still have much more to lose."

A new administration, if elected, would not take control for four months, Mills said, and during that time the old administration would be deprived of authority by a vote of lack of confidence. This he claimed, would cause uncertainty which of itself was sufficient to smother "the incipient recovery that appears to be under way."

62 Counties Now Get Relief Funds

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Cook county's unemployed, on half rations since Oct. 1, will be back on full rations in a few days but are facing the probability, according to Mayor Anton J. Cermak, that there will be no funds whatever with which to feed them after December 1.
Three hundred representatives of the unemployed met with the Chicago city council committee on unemployment yesterday.
An additional loan was obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with which to carry on relief work in November. Edward L. Ryerson, Jr., chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, said the loan would permit returning the unemployed to full rations on Nov. 1.
The relief commission yesterday allocated funds to 62 counties for aid for the period of Nov. 1 to 15. Six counties which heretofore have received no outside aid were included in the allocations. They were Bond, Champaign, Clark, Jersey, Warren and Schuyler.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

When snow lies white on mountain height
And winter stalks by hill and glen,
The merry dancers of the night
Are at their joyous jigs again.

In silver radiance is spread,
With sound of waters on the shore
And star-shine twinkling overhead.

In green and blue of rainbow hue,
And red and yellow, clear as flame,
Their footstep fall as list as dew,
These merry sprites without a name!

And to and fro they whirling go,
And tread their measures, gay and free,
But whence they come shall no man know,
And whence they vanish no man see!

EXCELLENT FRUIT COMPOSTS

Europeans make much of fruit composts, but Americans have never fully appreciated them. They almost any four or five fruits together, with enough water to cover them and sugar enough to sweeten. Do not cook longer than just enough time to soften the fruit. Plums, peaches, pears, apples, and quince make a wonderful combination.

Mrs. Syverud, Home Adviser, gave her report for the year from October 1, 1931 to October 1, 1932, and following this report the county officers reported on their respective activities.

At noon a buffet dinner was served, the ladies of the Lee Center and Bradford units having charge of this part of the day's program. At 1:15 o'clock p. m. Mrs. Ackert again led the group in singing.

Mrs. Henry Meis, president of the Illinois Home Bureau Federation, who had been secured to give the principal address of the day to the women of the organization was prevented from attending the meeting due to an automobile accident in which Mr. Meis was killed, and Mrs. Meis very seriously injured.

Larry Williams of the Country Life Insurance Company very kindly consented to address the organization. Mr. Williams in an intensely interesting and eloquent speaker, and the Home Bureau was very fortunate in being able to secure him as speaker.

The subject of Mr. Williams' talk was "Truth." Touching briefly upon the present depression, Mr. Williams pointed out that this depression was justly brought upon the country by the people themselves due to the fact that never in any other era have a people and a country strayed so far from truth, or from a sane sense of values, as in the era from which the country is just emerging.

The speaker touched upon the value of organization at a time when people are passing from an age of "individualism" to an age of "collectivism." Mr. Williams spoke eloquently of the difference between beauty and loveliness, between the external quality, beauty, which may be purchased and applied, and the internal quality of loveliness which makes a woman loved instead of pitied.

Bride Of Today

MISS DOROTHY PRESCOTT

This evening at 8 o'clock at the Christian church, Miss Dorothy Prescott is to become the bride of W. R. Hardy, Jr., in one of the prettiest ceremonies of the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, Jr., will enjoy a motor trip through the southern states to Hattiesburg, Miss., where they will be the guests of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hardy of 812 Rebecca Avenue.

They will be at home to their friends in Dixon at 622 N. Ottawa avenue, after Tuesday, Nov. 15th.

Mr. Hardy is a member of a prominent Forrest county, Mississippi family. He was a star athlete at the Hattiesburg high school and was later graduated from the engineering school at the Mississippi State College.

Since then he has been employed as engineer for the Illinois highway department with headquarters in Dixon where he has made many friends.

Miss Prescott is a member of an old and prominent Dixon family, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Prescott. She attended the University of Illinois and is a member of the Alpha Phi Sorority. She is a young woman of a happy and gracious personality and her popularity in many circles has been confirmed by the many recent prenuptial courtesies held in honor of her approaching marriage. The many friends of both the bride and bridegroom unite in extending to them the best wishes for happiness and success in the years to come.

Out of town guests at the wedding include Miss Leone Hinz, Beecher, Ill.; Mrs. W. T. Harrison, Dr. C. A. Hosper, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prescott, Freeport, Ill.; Mrs. C. H. Rauch, Mrs. P. D. Schrader, Miss Lucille Keyes, Edwin Schrader, Miss Evelyn Schrader, Plymouth, Michigan; J. L. Hardy, Waukegan, Ill.

Each unit chairman was asked to give a two minute report of the year's activities of the unit. These reports were followed by a piano solo by Phillipa Fiach.

Mrs. Syverud, Home Adviser, gave her report for the year from October 1, 1931 to October 1, 1932, and following this report the county officers reported on their respective activities.

Mr. Williams spoke eloquently of the difference between beauty and loveliness, between the external quality, beauty, which may be purchased and applied, and the internal quality of loveliness which makes a woman loved instead of pitied.

THE MYTH OF RETALIATION.

Beginning with his speech of acceptance, the Democratic candidate for President has continued to assert, whenever he has found occasion to refer to the subject of the tariff, that the Hawley-Smoot law was so unfair to foreign nations as to excite retaliation on their part, with the result of "destroying our foreign trade." Other Democratic leaders have been singing the same tune, and have asserted that in the two years since the present law was enacted 100 or more retaliatory tariffs have been erected against it. Since there are only about 60 independent nations in the world, this Democratic estimate would seem on its face to be rather high.

But if it were reduced to any lesser number it would still be completely untrue—just as it has been untrue in every other case when the Democrats have raised the same cry, as they have following the enactment of every Republican tariff bill for the past 40 years.

The records show that foreign tariff increases have been made without any respect to our tariff laws. Proof of that is found in the fact that during the four years, 1925-1928, long before the Hawley-Smoot revision was even talked about, 37 big and little foreign nations made 87 upward revisions in their tariffs. Certainly they were not "retaliating" against a law which was not yet passed. These tariff increases by foreign nations were made for the same reason that we employ the tariff ourselves, to raise revenue and to protect home industries.

Furthermore these foreign tariff increases were not directed solely at the United States, but applied to all other nations. The Hawley-Smoot law itself provides against the possibility of discriminatory tariffs by declaring (Section 338) that in case any country "imposes directly or indirectly * * * any unreasonable charge, exaction, regulation or limitation which is not equally enforced upon the like articles of every foreign country; or discriminates directly or indirectly against the commerce of the United States by administrative regulation of customers, tonnage or port duty * * * in such manner as to place the commerce of the United States at a disadvantage compared to the commerce of any foreign country," the President shall by proclamation specify and declare new or additional duties upon the products of any country thus discriminating against American commerce. If any American producer or manufacturer believes therefore that he is being retaliated against by some foreign country, it will cost him only 3c in a postage stamp to lay his claim before the President or the Tariff Commission. The fact that no such claim has yet been presented is proof enough that the contention of Governor Roosevelt and other Democratic critics of the Hawley-Smoot law is utterly without foundation.

The whole retaliation argument, in other words, is mere anti-tariff propaganda without any foundation whatever upon which to rest.

THE GOVERNOR FORGOT.

When in his San Francisco speech Franklin D. Roosevelt declared that, "The American people were deceived and defrauded into purchasing billions of dollars worth of foreign securities," and when he added, "there seems to have been no attempt at governmental protection against this outrage," he apparently had completely forgotten that in 1922 he was the president of a corporation known as the United European Investors Limited which sold to the American public a vast quantity of German marks on the assumption they would turn out to be a safe, sound, conservative investment. It is certainly an uncommon situation for a candidate for President to complain because the Government did not protect the people against the outrage he was perpetrating upon them.

WHY?

The American farmer's best customers are the industrial workers in our shops, mines and factories.

They are having a hard enough time now with shortened hours, reduced wages and uncertain employment.

Governor Roosevelt proposes to increase their difficulties by slashing protective tariff barriers and placing them in direct competition with the workers of Europe and Asia, whose wages and standard of living are far below those that prevail in our country.

Why should farmers support a candidate who will multiply the difficulties of their best customers and thus reduce their purchasing power?

AN ELDER STATESMAN SPEAKS.

Elihu Root.

I think failure to re-elect President Hoover would be a serious misfortune for the people of this country. It would inevitably retard and set back, and probably frustrate the plans for restored business activity which Mr. Hoover has worked out and which have already shown their good effects in a multitude of ways.

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, who was floor leader of the Smith forces in the Democratic convention, has been made an honorary member of a Republican club in New Jersey, in recognition of the distinguished service he has rendered the Republican party in broadcasting his opinion that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt "is the weakest candidate the Democratic party could have named and can not carry any state east of the Mississippi River." Which shows at least that they have a sense of humor up in New Jersey.

DEMOCRAT LOST HAT AND COAT

An Interview With Hon. Robert H. Lucas, Assistant To Everett Sanders, Chairman of Republican National Committee

A great editor, a great Democrat, a great Kentuckian, a great American—Henry Watterson—in that memorable campaign of 1896 declared the issues to be the integrity of the nation, its credit at home and abroad and the honesty and stability of its currency. He charged the Democratic party had, both in the declarations of its platform and the utterances of its candidate, assailed the fundamental principles upon which this republic is founded, and left him no alternative "as a true Democrat and an honest man" but opposition to both platform and candidate. Describing the Democratic platform of that year, Henry Watterson used these words:

"The purpose of those who made the platform was to catch what they call the labor vote, under the impression that every man who works for his wages is an anarchist. The spirit underlying the whole is not Democracy. It is not Republicanism. It is simply the arraying of class against class appealing to the lowest passions and the densest ignorance for its justification. No government on earth could stand on such a principle."

The demagogue appealing to the baser political passions, stirring class against class and section against section, fomenting discontent among people and arousing distrust of established institutions and those in authority, was not peculiar to Henry Watterson's day nor confined to the presidential campaign of 1896.

The demagogue is a familiar figure in sacred and secular history. He is described in the Bible—the Book of Exodus—going among the children of Israel, inciting them to murmur against those leaders who had delivered them from bondage, causing them to ask one another if it would not have been better, after all, had they remained in Egypt instead of listening to Moses and following his leadership. In time those demagogues had not only destroyed the people's confidence in their leader, but their faith in their religion to the extent that they erected false gods and bowed down and worshipped. And the Bible tells us the penalty was forty years of wandering in the wilderness.

No lesson of history is more plain, no warning more pointed. Beware the demagogue. To follow his leadership is to join the procession of folly which inevitably disbands in despair and disaster. Yet human nature is such that it seldom profits by the experience of others. Each people, each nation, each generation, insists upon making its own experiments. Consequently, history is constantly repeating itself and every so often we witness the demagogue occupying the center of the political stage, seeking to influence the thoughts and direct the actions of parties and people.

The Demagogue is not the product of hard times. He is with us year in and year out, but when times are out of joint and people are dispirited, he is given an audience. Economic disaster always lends plausibility alike to the charges he makes against the "big fellows" and the leaders, as well as to the friendship and solicitude he expresses for the "little fellow." The distress of hard times makes his bag of tricks more attractive and persuades the more credulous to try his quackeries and patent medicines.

It is but natural, therefore, that some demagogue should come forward during the present depression to exhibit his wares and advertise his nostrums. At the recent Jefferson Day banquet held in Washington under the auspices of the Democratic National Committee former Governor Alfred E. Smith referred to the contemporary demagogue in as biting language as that used by Henry Watterson. He said:

"At a time like this, there is always a temptation to some men to stir up class prejudice, to stir up the bitterness of the rich against the poor and of the poor against the rich."

Governor Smith not only referred to the present-day demagogue, but he identified him as a Democratic candidate for the presidency in the following language:

"I have recently stated that, while I would accept a nomination for the presidency if it were tendered me, that until the convention assembled I would not be for or against any candidate. I announce now an exception to that statement. I will take off my coat and vest and fight to the end against any candidate who persists in any demagogic appeal to the masses of the people of this country to destroy themselves by setting class against class and rich against poor."

Let me say for Governor Smith he meant what he said. He did take off his coat and vest. He came out here to the Democratic convention at Chicago, took off his coat and vest and got into the fight. But Governor Smith was reckless with his coat and vest. The bad boys, McAdoo, Hearst and Garner ran off with them and Governor was obliged to go back to New York in his suspenders. He went without his coat and vest for many weeks and some thought he would go coatless and vestless throughout the campaign.

Governor Roosevelt was, of course, much disturbed at Governor Smith's situation and made every effort to replace the garments but without success. Mr. Garner himself called upon Governor Smith at his office in the Empire Building to take his measure for a new coat and vest but Governor Smith would have none of it. I understand he inquired of Mr. Garner on the occasion of that visit just what it was that although there were normally 3500 Democratic votes in Nevada county, the home of the vice presidential nominee, that Governor Smith received only 800 Democratic votes in 1928. It is said that Speaker Canner was nonplussed and confused by that direct question and left Governor Smith's office in great confusion. It was not until Governor Smith appeared at the New York state convention that Governor Roosevelt could get close enough to him to grab his hand and hold it long enough for the photographers to take a picture. They succeeded upon putting a new coat and vest upon Governor Smith upon that occasion but it is easy to be seen that it does not fit him at all and that he is very uncomfortable in it.

The Democratic party has been taken over completely by the radicals of the country. And so we have completed the circle in a third of a century. Following the election of 1896, Henry Watterson though the demagogue would not again plague the Democratic party. He found comfort in the belief that his party, having tasted the bitter waters, would not again lift the cup. The 1904 nomination of Alton B. Parker, the conservative judge; the 1912 selection of Wilson, the sedate professor, persuaded Watterson that his party had at last become sane and conservative. Moreover, he was persuaded that never again would the heresy of free silver and flat money be welcomed in the councils of Democracy.

He said free silver as an issue was as dead as the issue of slavery. In the future, said Mr. Watterson, the mere suggestion of free silver would be ridiculous. To use his own words:

"Upon the highways of thought, in the arenas of intellectual combat, he who seriously invokes the spirit of that bogus and defunct theory would be laughed at. It is not only dead, but it lies in a neglected grave, having wrecked the reputations and hopes of all who made it the god of their idolatry."

Yet today Democrats in the United States Senate, high in the councils of the Roosevelt-for-President organization, have resurrected the free silver corps, stripped it of its grave clothes, arrayed it in purple and fine linen and introduced it to the United States Senate in the form of proposed legislation which contains Bryan's 1896 proposals almost word for word. Today, Democratic leaders in both branches of Congress are advocating starting the printing presses and issuing paper money, like the local newspapers issue baseball extras—just plain wildcat currency. These Democratic flat money advocates, like the Democratic free silver advocates, are key men in their respective states in the Roosevelt-for-President movement. Today the Democratic party is preparing to underwrite the sophistries and hypocrisies, the class suspicions and the sectional prejudices being advanced by its candidate for the Presidency. So demagogue and financial hysteria once more are organized under the banners of the Democratic party, to take advantage of the economic situation and make an appeal to the farmer, discouraged by low prices; to the wage earner, disheartened by unemployment; and to the general public, suffering from the depression.

Today, as a third of a century ago, under similar economic conditions, with the Democratic party under similar demagogic leadership, with the honesty of our currency, the credit of our government and the integrity of our nation at stake, as they all were then, the hope of the American people rests with the Republican party, just as it did in 1906.

Among the radical bills now pending in the United States Senate are the Goldsborough bill which provides for an inflation of the currency—the same kind of inflation that Russia recently had when the money was not worth the cost of the paper it was printed—the same kind of inflation that Germany had only a short time ago when a thousand marks would pay for a loaf of bread. They evidently have not read the plan of the Republican party, which is to build a billion dollar building program, if he were president. They believe he would sign the Garner pork-barrel bill, proposing post office buildings, whether they were needed or not, at the cost of more than a billion two hundred millions of dollars.

The radicals have been voting for all these bills. They are on their way through Congress, and the radicals want a president who will sign them. All the radicals in Congress who favor these measures favor Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, therefore, for President, without regard to former party affiliations.

How does all this fit with the history and traditions of the Republican Party in Illinois? How does government by Huey Long, Wheeler, Dill and the LaFollettes, champions of socialism, radicalism and communism, appeal to the Republicans of this great state? You say not at all, but then I have heard it said that Illinois is doubtful in this campaign. What! Illinois doubtful? The State that trained and educated a Lincoln, the place in the world? The state that through the world? The Republican party permanent in the nation? The great State of Illinois that made liberty and freedom secure for all our people? The State that did more than any other to preserve the Union? The state that has never wavered in its loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, this election give its electoral vote. Do you tell me that state will in to those who would tear away the very foundations upon which the security of the nation rests? That Illinois will give its electoral vote to a coalition government made up of all the forces of discontent? Tell me that Illinois will vote to put in control of the government those men who will Russinize America.

It cannot, it will not be done! That could only come about by the surrender of good men and women of Illinois to the forces of destruction and discontent. That will never be. Your state and mine in 1896 stood steadfastly by the traditions of America and the principles of the Republican Party and they will both do so again in this campaign. In that election the Republicans saved this country from economic collapse. Of course, you can never say definitely and finally that a thing which did not happen would have happened under other conditions.

But it has been generally conceded in this country that the election of the Republican Party in 1896 saved the nation from great distress and put it on the firm foundation that brought an era of great prosperity.

I know of the campaign of 1896

IF THEY DO GET HOLD OF THAT GARAGE KEY—

only by hearsay but I do know intimately and thoroughly of the memorable campaign of 1916. I recall vividly my fears of a Democratic victory in that election. The great nations of Europe were at war. The world was aflame. The people of this country wanted to keep out of it. The President of the United States had in the Mexican controversy announced "We are too proud to fight." Republican leaders saw the great dangers from that policy adopted by President Wilson. They realized such a policy was just as sure to force us into the war as the days came and went. Democratic leaders were blinded to that danger by their desire for four more years in office. Desiring to stay out of war and seeing the dangers ahead, the best brains of the Republican party got together to select a man for President who would best be qualified to get this nation clear of the threatening foreign entanglements. Charles Evans Hughes was nominated.

In that campaign the Democrats adopted a slogan "He kept us out of war." They plastered the billboards from one end of this country to the other. They filled the newspapers throughout the land with full-page ads picturing the vacant chair—the weeping mother as her boy marched away to war—and in type half the size of the billboard or the page, they said, "If you want war vote for Hughes. If you want peace vote for Wilson." I knew as well as I knew anything in the world that campaign put on by the Democrats would surely make it impossible for this country to stay out of the war. And I had confidence that Republican leadership and Republican statesmanship could keep us out of it.

The Democratic promise to keep us out of the war re-elected the Democratic administration. And within six weeks after Wilson's second inauguration, the government of the United States found it necessary to declare war on the Central Powers.

What were our losses? Forty billion dollars expended—that a Republican victory in 1916 might have saved, and in my opinion would have saved.

Fifty thousand American lives lost that a Republican victory in 1916 might have saved, and in my opinion would have saved.

Two hundred thousand Americans crippled and maimed that a Republican victory in 1916 might have saved and in my opinion would have saved.

Leaving today a war debt requiring the payment of one billion dollars each year for interest. Leaving today an annual expenditure of one billion dollars for hospitalization and compensation for the war veterans. All of which might have been saved and in my opinion would have been saved by a Republican victory in 1916.

Then there came the League of Nations. And if it hadn't been for the courageous leadership of the Republicans in the United States Senate who delayed action on that proposal until the people of this country could find out what it was all about, the Democrats would have bartered away the very sovereignty of the nation in a foreign entanglement from which there would have been no escape. And how the Republican leaders and the Republican Party were maligned and abused because of their opposition to the Democratic League of Nations plan. And one of those who was bitterest in that denunciation was none other than Governor D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate for President of the United States. And he is still for the League of Nations idea. In building his fences for the Democratic nomination last spring, he made a cunning statement calculated to leave the impression that the League of Nations is not now a part of his program. But like other of his statements on public questions, this one is far from convincing.

Today Franklin D. Roosevelt has another League of Nations idea. Far more dangerous in its possibilities than was the original League of Nations plan. The Democrats have advocated and he has advocated a league of nations for tariff fixing. This latest proposal is just another door by which they intend to lead us into the trap we have heretofore escaped.

The claim that foreign countries have heretofore protested against our tariff laws is Democratic propaganda. Our tariff is a domestic affair and foreign countries know they have no right to protest nor interfere with it. During the consideration of the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Law in Congress, the Democrats, as part of their political propaganda went so far as to encourage foreign countries to protest against it. It was disclosed that Senator Thomas, a Democrat from Oklahoma, had invited protests from a foreign country. Democrats have been proclaiming and are now proclaiming the rights of foreign countries to protest against our tariff and a Democratic victory on such an issue would be accepted as no vice to the world that the American people want foreign countries to take a hand in fixing our tariff rates. In that event as in 1916, foreign countries would take Democratic promises to mean that they say and they will be knocking at our door demanding that their rights to fix our tariff be respected.

LIGHT AND LIFE

That the light and heat of the sun directly or indirectly provide the basis of all life has been appreciated by mankind for countless ages.

With the development of modern science, man's intuitive appreciation of the sun has been validated by important discoveries.

Thus it was early shown that plants take non-living substances and with the aid of sunlight build out of them living or organic compounds upon which all animals ultimately depend for their food.

More recently, that is, during the last 10 or 12 years, it has been further shown that the sun's radiations have a direct and specific effect on the nutrition of animals and humans.

This effect is seen in the promotion of growth and development, as well as, on the negative side, certain disease conditions.

The recent discoveries of the effects of the sun upon nutrition center about the disease rickets.

Rickets is a disease with which medicine has been acquainted for more than a century. It has been recognized as a condition affecting the utilization of mineral substances by the body.

More specifically, there is a disturbance during the period of development in what is technically known as the calcification of the bony tissues.

The skeletal frame of the child and young animal is not bony in character but cartilaginous. As the child or animal develops the cartilage disappears and in its place bone is developed.

A significant portion of bone structure is made out of calcium and phosphorus. In rickets there is a failure in the deposition of calcium in the skeletal tissue.

This, however, is not due to a lack of calcium. It is due, rather, to the lack of some essential element, now designated as vitamin D, which in nature is provided by the effect of the sun on certain chemical substances.

At the age of four he came with his parents to Sterling, and had lived in the vicinity of Sterling and Harmon all his life. On Dec. 10, 1908 he was united in marriage to Ida Mae Stern. NEW AIR CHIEF
LONDON—England has a new Chief of the Air Staff who succeeds his younger brother. The new chief is Sir Geoffrey Salmond, and he succeeds Air Chief Marshall Sir John Salmond, who recently handed in his resignation after having the post for more than two years. In his present office Sir Geoffrey commands the air defense of Britain.

The tide has turned!

America is aroused!

As the devastating deflation subsides, HOPE arises in the stunned consciousness of a harassed but victorious nation.

CLEAR THINKING again becomes possible.

CONFIDENCE has been restored.

And with return to sane thinking comes sudden realization of the destructive end toward which the nation had been drifting.

Demoralized by depression, with its morale shaken by three years of increasing adversity, the United States was easy prey to the voice of the demagogue. The lowest type of political chicanery found ready listeners among the millions of unemployed and other millions concerned over the security of their jobs or other sources of income.

Political office seekers embraced the opportunity to prey upon the misery of the people.

Attempt was made to ride into control of the government of the United States upon the back of SLANDER and HATE.

A BASE FALSEHOOD was adopted as the slogan of a once great political party.

"It Couldn't Be Worse" was a phrase manufactured to deceive an unsuspecting American public. It was bred and fostered by the Democratic leaders to capitalize, for their own selfish purposes, the suffering of millions of men, women and children.

AND IT CAME NEAR SUCCEEDING!

Sullen dissatisfaction, which was only natural in many breasts as a result of long suffering from the effects of the world depression, was fanned into bitter resentment by the misrepresentations and cunning proposals of Democratic party leaders.

"SMEAR HOOVER," they whispered to one another.

TURN TEARS INTO VOTES!

Vilify the President. Becloud the truths regarding what he accomplished in the face of the most serious handicaps that ever confronted a national administration.

And the traducers made apparent headway. The unsuspecting were impressed. They were misled UNTIL they saw and heard the FALSE PROPHET.

When it became necessary to substitute a program in place of blasphemy, the head of the Democratic ticket failed dismally.

He was lost in the wilderness of hysterical panaceas and quack nostrums. He uttered ridiculous nothings where serious discussion and honest proposals were expected.

He openly accused the President of deceiving the people, a falsehood of such magnitude that it branded its author as insincere at the outset of his campaign.

The original strategy of the Democratic campaign—to spread hate and discontent over the country and ride into power on a wave of unreasoning resentment—has proved unavailing.

The sins of omission and misrepresentation have caught up with the traducers of the administration.

The People of America Demand Plain Facts

The voters cannot longer be fooled by harangue.

THE TIDE HAS TURNED!

Examination of the official record of the Democratic candidate proves that as governor of New York he has led his State into an appalling financial deficit, failed to check the evils about which he talks so loudly when condemning the national administration and that he has demonstrated none of the qualifications essential in a statesman or safe leader.

Now that the tide has turned against him, he decries what he terms the campaign of fear inaugurated by his opponents.

Al Smith, within the last few months, has twice branded the Democratic candidate as a demagogue unworthy of support.

Millions of farmers, merchants and professional men in large and small cities, industrial leaders and workers everywhere, dismayed by the discovery that they have been following a political will-o'-the-wisp, are flocking to the banner of President Hoover.

The President, they now realize, has worked unceasingly to save the United States from the dismal fate which has befallen dozens of foreign nations. He has fought and planned in silence.

He has emerged victorious.

He has given an accounting of his stewardship.

A grateful nation again acclaims him its rightful leader.

The country now realizes that IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE. MUCH WORSE!

IT COULD STILL BE WORSE!

The Democratic candidate, goaded to despair by the spectacle of millions of voters turning to the President, now cries out for REVOLUTION.

This demagogic appeal will fall upon deaf ears.

THE TIDE HAS TURNED.

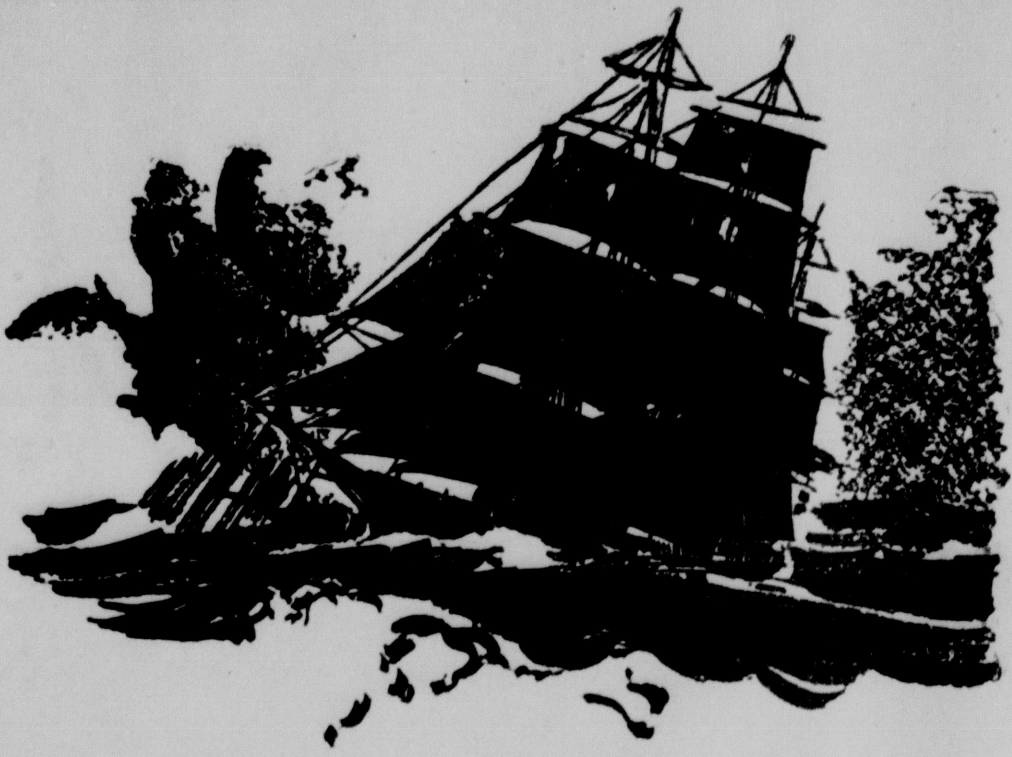

A new voice has swept across the country: "DON'T GAMBLE WITH THE DESTINY OF YOUR NATION."

America has responded.

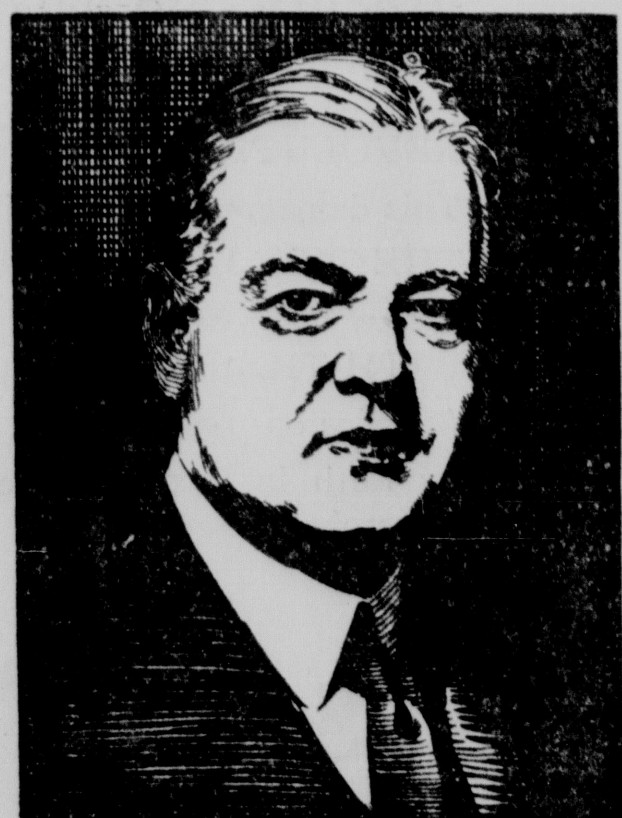

Its faith in Herbert Hoover will be demonstrated at the polls November 8.

HORNER DRAWS SALARY WHILE PRAISING SELF

Len Small Draws Public Attention To His "Economics"

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 29.—"Illinois taxpayers whose property is being assessed every year to pay the salary of Judge Horner cannot be expected to take off their hats and cheer over the announcement by the judge himself in his own home in Chicago Wednesday night that he had been away for six months telling the people of the state how big a fellow he is," declared former Governor Len Small today.

"The ridiculous part of the whole thing is that Horner is taking the time for which the people pay him to work to go out and tell them that if they will elect him governor every state employee must and shall give a full day's work for a full day's pay."

"How can he be expected to enforce a rule like that when by his own admission he has been drawing a full day's pay for the last six months and not doing a lick of work?"

"During my term of office as Governor, I remained at my desk in the state Capitol building attending to the business of the people who elected me for that purpose. Although we had a most able and capable Lieutenant Governor, Fred E. Sterling and although he was fully acquainted with the duties of the office, I did not ask him to come in and carry on my work while I was trying to get re-elected."

"Horner's conduct is exactly the opposite. For months, by his own admission, he has deserted the office of Probate Judge in Cook County. But he has refused to draw the salary of $15,000 a year from the taxpayers. And more than that, while he is away from home, judges from other counties are called in to Chicago to do his work for him and they are paid also by the taxpayers. So the taxpayers get a double dose."

"When I signed the bill permitting Horner to boost his salary from $10,000 to $15,000 a year at the same time refusing to permit my own salary of $12,000 a year, as Governor, to be raised, I took him at his word that he intended to devote all his time to the people's business. Instead of that, he has been out of duty and goes gallivanting all over the state trying to get himself elected to one job while holding another."
